INNOVATION

Which cup do I need?

Golden Cup Factory Coffee Cups are designed to keep your drinks hotter for longer – allowing customers to enjoy every sip without the compromise of taste and temperature.

With its single or double layers of insulation, our cups have an extremely high rate of heat protection adding extra comfort for your customers.

To test the insulation properties of each cup, we poured black coffee equivalent into each cup type. (This is an extreme test starting at a higher than average temperature of 93° C).

The temperature at the outer surface of the cup is measured every minute. This is the ‘holding temperature’, the heat that your hand feels when holding your coffee. A comfortable holding temperature is 65° C. This graph shows the difference in holding temperature for each cup type over time.
